On the back, someone had drawn beautiful swirls and spirals in silver ink, and it had been sealed with a large red star. Hands trembling, Eric carefully lifted open the flap. Inside was a small piece of golden paper. It was an invitation.

Read the next part of the story above.

Write a diary entry from the perspective of Eric about how he felt upon receiving the envelope.

- Why were your hands trembling?
- Who was the invitation from and what was it for?
- When does this event take place?
- How did you feel about being invited to this event?
