

Literacy activity - 26.6.20

Yesterday we wrote about an animal that Max might have seen in the jungle. Today, we are going to be writing a postcard from Max about the jungle. You might want to begin by reading the story 'Max's Jungle Adventure' or listening to it at: <https://soundcloud.com/talkforwriting/maxs-jungle/s-7mdf7356etd>

You should

We are going to be pretending to be Max and writing about the jungle. We will need to think about what Max saw in the jungle and who he met. For example, 'I met a nice tiger' or 'I saw a red flower'. Spend some time talking with your child about their ideas as this will help them think of their sentences. They will also need to decide who Max is writing the postcard to.

When writing, encourage your child to:

- think of and say their sentence before they write it down
- sound out every word
- remember to leave finger spaces.

You could (if you want a challenge)

Think about another adventure Max might go on and write your own story just like 'Max's Jungle Adventure'. Maybe Max goes to the desert, the forest or even under the sea.
