Main Activity

Today, you are going to plan your own scenes from Julius Caesar to include in your trailer. I'll put some questions for you to answer about this as a plan.

1. What is your production company going to be? Are you going to use a real production company or make up your own? Here are some real production company logos. Either sketch one of these or invent your own in the box on the next page!

2. Are you going to have any mention of the actors in your film? You could have “starring...” as some of the words on your screen. Are you going to have the film starring our own cast? Or are you going to choose famous actors for the main roles?

3. What words do you want to have on the screen? You could use your movie trailer language from Tuesday to help you.

4. Finally, what scenes are you going to have in your trailer? Will you include the stabbing of Caesar? Or do you want to keep that a secret? Would you have shots of Rome? How about the soothsayer saying “Beware the Ides of March” or the scene at midnight in Brutus’ garden? Would you have Antony’s famous “Let slip the dogs of war!” speech in there? Plan out which scenes you want to include and why. (I’ve put five here but you can add more if you want to!)
