Good morning Longboats, how are you today?

Spelling

For the rest of this week in spelling, we are going to work on the Year 5/6 words. Remember – you can practise these on the new Readwriter website, using your normal Athletics and Spellodrome login.

Can you choose 5 of these Year 5/6 words and include them in a sentence?

nuisance	muscle	occur	neighbour
parliament	persuade	marvellous	mischievous
programme	necessary	privilege	opportunity

Main Activity

Today, you are going to write the script for your movie trailer. Remember, you can use a mixture of famous lines, (you could use “Et tu Brute?”, “Then fall Caesar”, “This was a man” or “Beware the Ides of March”, for example). You can also use narration using those movie trailer phrases we talked about: “This Summer...”, “For the first time....”, “Experience the drama...” I’ve put my own one on the next page for you to magpie from if you want to.

Make sure that your movie script matches your storyboard. You should be able to point to what will be on screen whilst you are reading it out loud.

Good luck!

P.S. This is the trailer for an old film of Julius Caesar

I think you will be able to make yours even more exciting and atmospheric!

Abi's Julius Caesar movie trailer script

(Dark screen, slowly, words fade on in blood red – Beware the Ides of March)

Narrator: (slow panning shot zooming in on the city of Rome) In every generation, there is one hero who must stand up and fight for what is right. But, who is that hero?

(Shot of Brutus, Cassius, Mark Antony and Julius Caesar looking at each other suspiciously)

This Spring, witness the assassination that shattered a city (shot of riots in Rome), started a war (shot of Cassius and Mark Antony's armies running towards each other, swords drawn) and broke the heart of a hero (shot of Brutus standing over Caesar's body).

(Cut to shot of Brutus speaking to the crowd)

Brutus: Friends, Romans, countrymen, lend me your ears!

(Cut to shot of Mark Antony shouting at the crowd)

Antony: Now, cry havoc and let slip the dogs of war!

(Cut to shot of Caesar looking at Cassius)

Caesar: He thinks too much, such men are dangerous.

Narrator: Which side are you on?

(Gradually fade back to a dark screen, show the Soothsayer walking on, towards the audience out of the night)

Soothsayer: Beware the Ides of March

Echo: (whispered) Beware the Ides of March

Words appear on the screen – the I is a dagger, dripping blood – Julius Caesar – 15.03.2021
