

Monday 13th July

L.O. To read and spell tricky words

Sort the words below into the correct column.

 whole	 sure	 only	 both
 sugar	 most	 who	 clothes

'o' making the 'long o' sound	'wh' words	's' making the 'sh' sound

L.O. To recap spelling rules -augh and -ough

-augh and -ough can make the 'aw / or / ore' sound

Example words:

thought, caught, taught, fought, brought, bought, ought

Fill the gaps with the correct -augh / -ough words above:

- I _____ the ball when it came near me.
- The knights _____ a terrible battle.
- You _____ to brush your teeth twice a day.
- My friend _____ me how to play the piano.
- Yesterday, I _____ some sweets from the shop.
- When my aunt came to visit, she _____ our cousin with her.
- I _____ it was cold outside but it was actually quite warm.

L.O. To use noun phrases

This week, our story is 'The Magic Paintbrush', which is a Chinese folk tale. When the boy, Ma Liang, paints with the brush, the paintings come to life. Ma Liang uses his magic paintings to help poor people, by painting a river to help their crops grow and food for a hungry family. An evil, rich man takes the paintbrush from Ma Liang but the magic will not work for him. The man kidnaps Ma Liang. He makes the boy paint him a golden mountain where he can collect lots of riches but Ma Liang tricks him by painting a boat and a large wave. The evil man is washed away by the wave and is never seen again.

Sort the adjectives below into which person or object they best describe.

paintbrush	man	mountain	wave

evil, magic, mean, valuable, wonderful, mysterious, large, powerful, greedy, precious, dangerous, rich, crashing, golden

Now use your adjectives to create some noun phrases by filling in the gaps in the sentences below.

- In the morning, Ma Liang found a _____, _____ paintbrush on the desk next to his bed.
- A _____, _____ man wanted the paintbrush for himself because he thought it would make him even more rich and powerful.
- The rich man told Ma Liang he would set him free if he painted him a _____, _____ mountain where he could collect coins.
- Quickly, the clever boy painted a _____, _____ wave.

L.O. To use the conjunction 'if'

Let's practise using the conjunction 'if'. In the real story, the evil man promises to set Ma Liang free if he paints him a golden mountain. What else might he ask for? Think of 3 different ideas using the sentence starter below:

I will set you free if you paint me.....

Example:

I will set you free if you paint me a treasure chest full of jewels.